SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

TO THE SCHOOL BOARD AND CITIZENS OF GREENFIELD:

I respectfully submit my third annual report as Superintendent of Schools.

SUPERVISION

There has been no major change in the general plan of supervision from that of previous years. The results of the standardized tests are used with more effectiveness as we gain in the understanding of the meaning of test results and methods of utilizing them to improve instruction. The outstanding illustration of this gain the past year is in the fields of Reading and Spelling. When tests showed weakness in the reading skills, and particularly in the knowledge of the exact meaning of words, we shifted the emphasis in methods of teaching reading to meet the situation. This weakness carried over also into spelling abilities, and we have made a change in the spelling system, introducing a new type of textbook which is a combination of spelling and word study. These have been in use approximately two months and the improvement in spelling is noticeable already by comparison with work of the preceding months. Standardized tests in the spring and next fall will indicate the extent to which we have overcome the weaknesses, and will point the way to future procedure.

TEACHERS AND SALARIES

The surplus of qualified teachers which existed during the years of the depression has very largely disappeared. There is almost a scarcity of good primary teachers and no more than the normal surplus of upper grade teachers. This situation has accelerated the rate at which teachers' salaries are being restored to their former levels, from the reduced salaries that prevailed in the past five years.

REPAIRS AND IMPROVEMENTS

The completion of the improvements started last year have been very much appreciated in the grammar room where the new blackboard was installed at the front, a new steel ceiling erected and the whole room redecorated. The school rooms are now in very good condition. The addition of a fire escape has removed the fire hazard both for any group of people that might occupy the upper hall and the children in the primary room in case fire should break out. Provision for the payment of the note covering the cost of the fire escape appears in a separate article in the warrant.

BUDGET FOR 1937-1938

The estimates for next school year differ very slightly from estimates presented a year ago except in the following items. Health supervision has increased to $150 with the promise from the state to make up the difference in additional state aid. This plan is in operation at the present time. Transportation is estimated at the same figure as this year's actual cost, one route that was provided for in last year's budget having been found to be unnecessary this year. The reduction of $100 in the estimate for high school tuition is accounted for by the fact that some pupils have dropped out. The total amount required for these estimated expenditures is $617 less than last year's estimate. A special article in the warrant, however, calls for an addition of $268 to pay the note (with accrued interest) authorized last March for the construction of the fire escape.

STATE AID

The total approved expenditures for "support of schools" (state aid items) last year was $3,565.67; the amount of the $5 tax was $3,343.17 and the state aid check received (on the budget of the previous year) was $680.69. That is, Greenfield actually received from the state $458.19 more than was needed to meet the approved expenditures; and this amount stands as a balance due the state. This is a larger amount than is needed in state aid for the current year, so there will be no allotment of state aid on this year's account.

Respectfully submitted,

VERNON S. AMES

REPORT OF SCHOOL NURSE

The routine inspection of each pupil's hair, scalp, teeth, skin, posture and general hygiene began with the opening of the school year.

The following defects were found by Dr. Cheever when the annual examination was made in June:

Pupils examined	53
Underweight 10%	9
Defective teeth	10
Defected vision	3
Diseased tonsils	7

Corrections:

Underweight 10%	5
Defective teeth	27
Defective vision	3

Thirty-two school visits were made. Seven treatments were given for sores.

Thirty-two home visits were made to give instruction in the care and treatment of communicable diseases, to follow up defects and encourage parents to take advantages of the opportunities offered through the clinics for the treatment and correction of their children's defects.

The beneficial results of Cod Liver Oil and milk furnished through the school during the past three years is seen in the generally improved health of the children.

During childhood the growth, development and health of the teeth is dependent more upon proper nutrition than any other factor. A balanced diet which includes adequate amounts of vitamins A, D and C must be given if we expect to obtain results. Cod Liver Oil now being served in the homes and in the school is the best source of vitamins A and D. Oranges, tomatoes, raw cabbage and other raw fruits and vegetables are rich in vitamin C.

In addition to good nutrition the teeth must be kept clean. As soon as several baby teeth appear they should be cleansed with a little cotton on a toothpick, or a small soft brush, to remove particles of food from between and around them, as they decay very easily. If through carelessness or oversight a cavity appears it should be filled immediately.

The presence in the mouth of decayed and abscessed teeth increases the susceptibility to communicable diseases and undoubtedly helps to infect tonsils, cause enlarged glands, digestive disorders and many other troubles. The first teeth neglected or removed too soon will spoil the appearance of the permanent set and should never be removed without the advice of your dentist. Much suffering both physical and mental would be prevented if the teeth were properly cared for from early childhood.

I thank the school officials, teachers, parents, pupils and others who have shown interest and given their support to the health work in the school and community.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET E. HARRIS, R.N.
